Obstacles

Tracking in the forest is a problem. So is the rumor that the crusaders are bandits.

Outline:

1. Merchant captain Berthold warns of bandit activity in the area.
2. A few days later, the driver of the mine cart says he was accosted by bandits and they robbed him of the minerals and cart.
3. Investigating the robbery scene shows that the entire load of cobalt is there as well as a small pouch on top of the pile of rocks. The pouch contains some strange silver coins...

4. The bandits are actually remnants of the German Crusader army led by Oliver of Cologne. They are trying to get home. These crusaders were "wrongly" accused of crimes, hence their need to travel off-road. Some of their party are lame or injured, hence the need for the cart. They say the driver ran off as soon as they presented themselves.
5. Each crusader is a veteran soldier, and will have some skill with their previous profession.
