FELLOW CREW MEMBERS:

Captain Lawrence Drake – One of your many lovers, you somehow continued to be friends with him after the passion cooled. When you wearied of Corporate P.R. life he offered you a position on his ship. It has been a good arrangement.

Dr. Nora Jansen (Ship's Doctor) – An iron-willed woman who you respect greatly. You envy her friendship with Captain Drake which is apparently completely Platonic. She has helped you with several medical issues linked to your sexual adventures with admirable discretion.

Gordon Trevor (Ship's Engineer / Bartender) – You generally don't make a habit of getting involved with your co-worker's lives but Gordon is an enigma to you. In the last twenty years he's never married or had a significant other. Perhaps you can help him find that special someone.

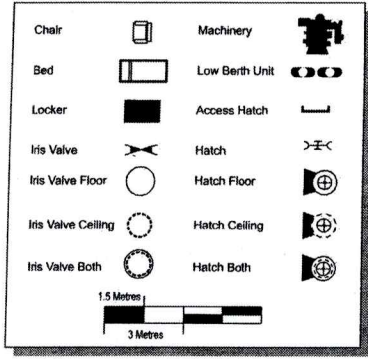

Professor Kaden Moro (Ship's Navigator / Cook) – For some reason the two of you hit it off from the start and spend long hours lost in conversations most would find brain-numbingly boring. He's one of the few men you haven't felt obliged to throw yourself at to get his approval. His cooking is to die for.

Jason Lennox (Ship Security) – When you first met him the only word that came to mind was 'thug'. Over the years he's saved your life more than once and you have to admit he has a certain animal magnetism that is very tempting.

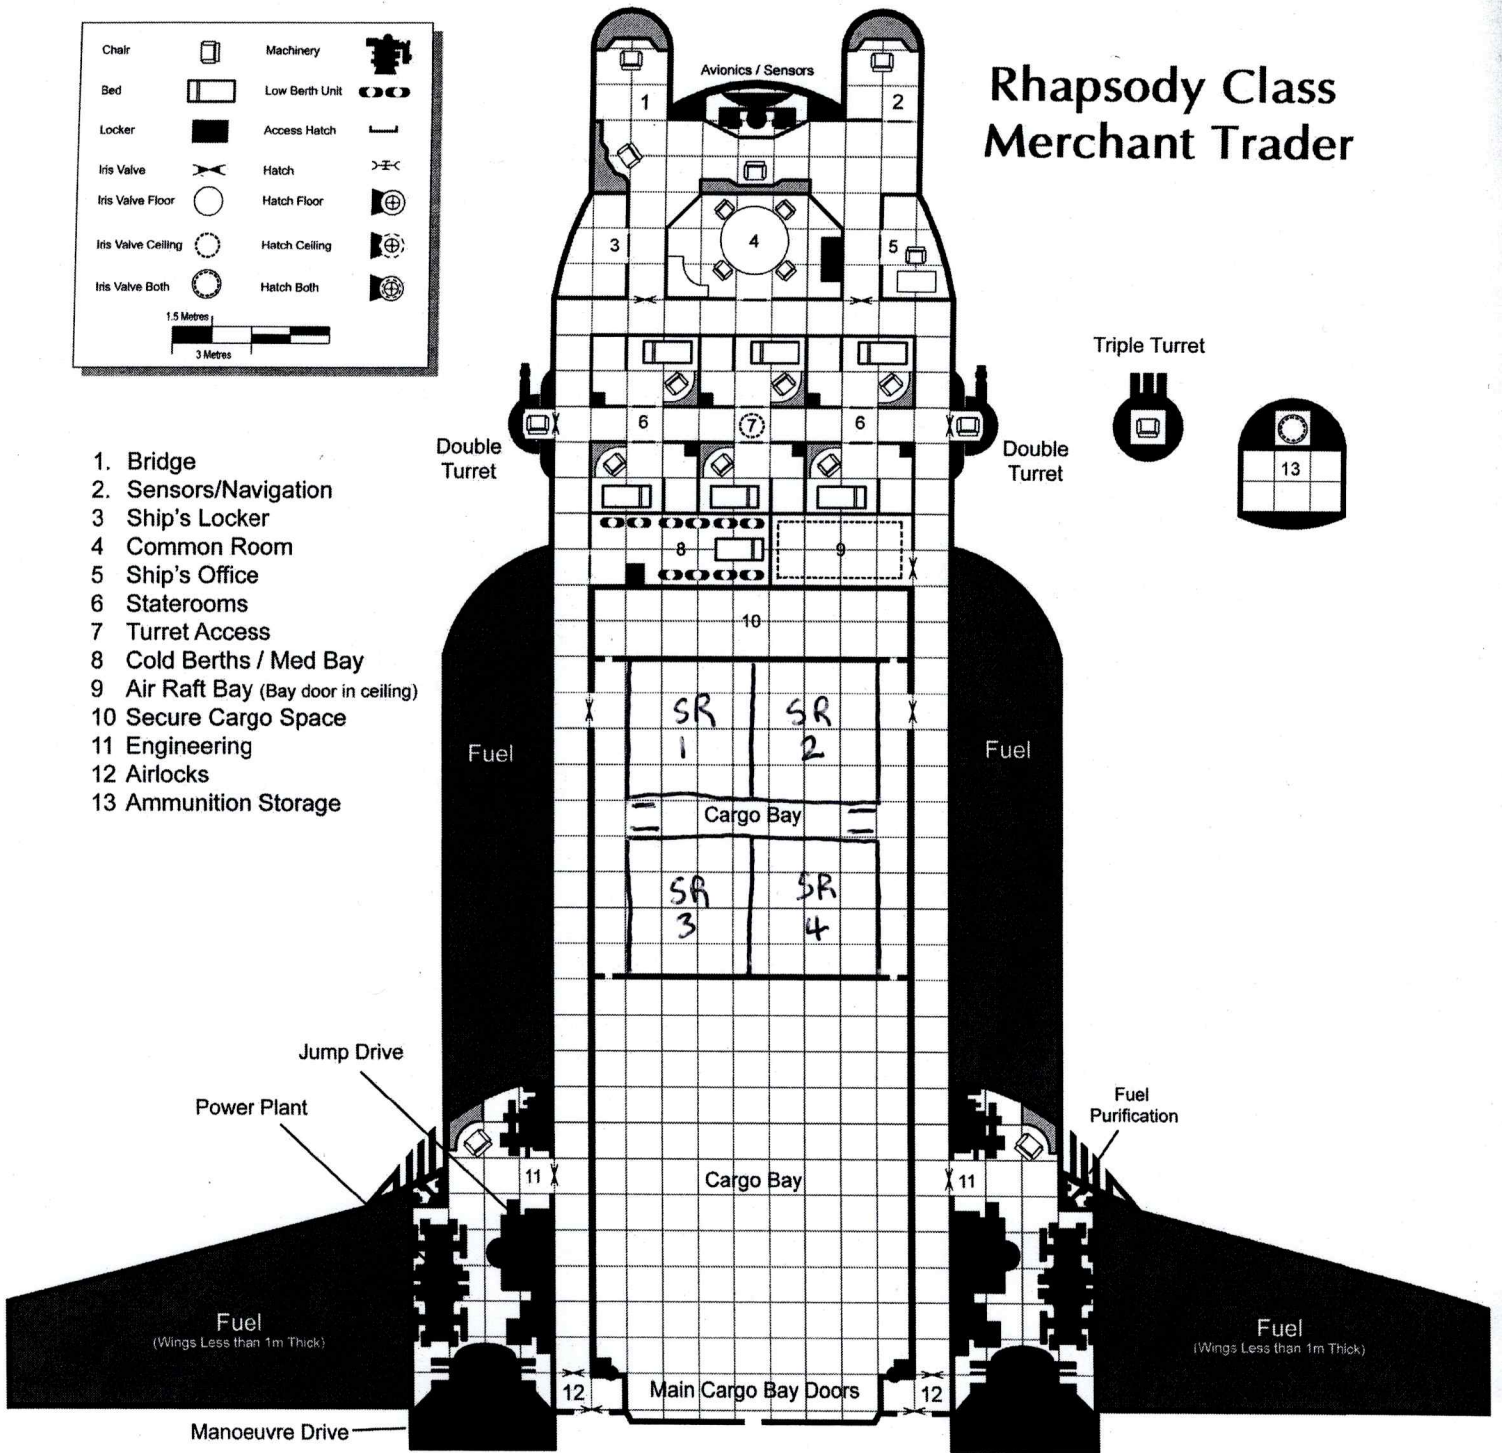

MARISSA'S REGRET

A lifetime ago you were engaged to marry your long-time boyfriend Theo Sanders. During a moment of weakness you decided to have one last fling with an old flame and Theo walked in on the two of you. You'll never forget seeing the pain of your betrayal on his face. Theo would be found later, dead by his own hand. You try to forget the past but no matter how many lovers you take, you can't.
