

Leeroy Jenkins

Pantheon:

Chaos

Scope:

Professional, demigod

Alignment:

Chaos

Domains:

Chaos, War

Followers:

Anyone of Chaotic alignment, usually fighters and barbarians, will follow Leeroy Jenkins.

At third level, followers of Leeroy Jenkins gain "The Voice of Leeroy". If the follower leads a brash charge into the first round of combat, and yell their true name, all other characters and monsters, but not deities, within 50' (including their own party) are Surprised for one combat round. Other characters using "The Voice of Leeroy" at the same time are not affected.

Leeroy Jenkins' followers have no weapons restrictions, but they favor larger slashing weapons.

Home Plane:

Limbo

Avatar/Description:

Leeroy Jenkins appears as a short, squat human that could almost be mistaken for a Dwarf. He carries an overly decorated, cleaver-like sword. His plate armor is garishly gothic, and he wears a red tabard blazoned with a white heart on the chest. See picture above.

Holy Symbol:

A red tabard with a white heart.

Traditions and Holidays:

Secret followers of Leeroy Jenkins will often identify each other by working the following challenge into conversation: "At least I have chicken." The correct answer is, "Pals for life."

