

Elves in the world of Jarand

Two groups of elves exist in the Western World (the world on Jarand's side of the Great Eastern Mountains): the Airestar (Wood Elves), and the Grey Elves (High Elves).

The Airestar live in the forests to the northwest of Jarand. They are the Wood Elf race. They have been surrounded by men, and have negotiated for their isolation. They primarily shun contact with other races as much as possible. However some Airestar have joined human society. As a result, all Half-Elves are descended from Airestar.

The Grey Elves live in the forests about 200 miles south of Jarand, just to the west of the Dwarven nations. They have very little contact with outside groups. The notable exception being the tension between the Grey Elves and the Dwarves.